Morning Oregonian.

VOL. XV.—NO. 183. PORTLAND, OREGON: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1875. PRICE—TEN CENTS

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

New York Republican Convention

SARATOGA Sept. 8—The Republican State convention began its session this morning Hon J Morgan chairman of the state committee called the convention to order and made an address Straightforward outbursts of applause He said he elected frequent outbursts of applause He said among other things that the Democratic party having been successful in some of the recent state elections among them we had labored con sistently our shortcomings had been either forgotten or forgiven and they were soon to be invested with political power in the nation It is scarcely possible to conceive of a greater error He would counsel the destiny of nations as well as the affairs of individuals has kindly permitted our Democratic friends to take a far off view of the situation that probation and repentance will be necessary before they can enter and pass to the promised land We should approve the course of all faithful public servants from the highest to the lowest whether they belong to our political party or the party of our opponents and reject all who are not worthy of whatever creed they claim to be the hand of fellowship to those of our countrymen who were unfortunately led to take up arms against us and cultivate friendly intercourse with them and let there be no step backward in our efforts to create payment at the earliest possible day and the period is not far remote when we shall again rejoice in the welfare and prosperity of our common country

Hon Alonzo B. Cornell was then unanimously chosen temporary chairman and in the course of his address said "You meet as the representative of the great party which saved the nation when its life was threatened by rebellion that party which during twenty years of its existence accomplished more to conserve and promote the course of good government than all other parties since the adoption of the federal constitution The Republican party has always been the party of reform It was founded for the purpose of correcting a great national evil and in this beneficent work it met but one enemy the Democratic party which in its efforts to preserve and extend slavery turned upon the Union and became the mother of rebellion created the treasonable sentiment which resulted in the assassination of the President and plotted for the repudiation of the national debt. For this the Democratic party blundered into electing an ignoramus governor. While I wouldn't in the least detract from the good work in which the executive is so zealously engaged, I denounce as false and hypocritical the pretensions of the Democratic party to be the Republican party, through its attorney general inaugurated the war against the penal ring and a Republican Legislature proposed a constitutional amendment which was put by ratified by the people assuming the reformation of abuses in canal expenditures In the last presidential convention owing to an unfortunate circumstance members were led away and found themselves in a hostile camp This error is abolished to this division have now happily ceased their Many old colleagues desired to resume the former allegiance Let us hold out the olive branches and welcome their return Let us pride of opinion or personal resentment longer separate from us those who cherish our principles and desire to co-operate with us.

The usual committees for permanent organization, resolutions etc were appointed and a recess taken till 3 o clock

Shoals near Santa Rosa Island.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—Commander H. C Taylor U S N, of the assistant coast survey, commanding the steamer Hassler, reports, under date of August 31 the discovery of various shoals which lie northward of the northwest point of Santa Rosa Island, and about one mile from shore with at least a depth of 31 feet of water upon them the bottoms are sandy, with occasional specimens of red and white coral. There is no kelp upon these shoals and no breakers, except in very heavy weather Depths in the vicinity range from 7 to 19 fathoms in all cases, with a rugged and irregular bottom The following bearings and distance fix the position of the centre of the shoal, that is the northern most point of San Miguel Island known as Harris point west by north eight and a quarter miles easternmost the rock being off the northwest point of Santa Rosa Island known as the Spider S by W ¼ W 13½ miles The most southeast point on the north face of Santa Rosa Island is Rocky way point, 2 N 5 E ¾ E 6¼ miles The eastern point of San Miguel known as Cardwell point, W ¾ W 4¾ miles All vessels attempting San Miguel passage are cautioned not to allow the outer rock off the northwest point of Santa Rosa to bear anything S W or westward of south by east and sailing vessels are especially recommended to avoid this passage altogether as light and calms under the lee of San Miguel Island and strong currents in the vicinity combine to render a vessel upon this dangerous spot Other dangers not yet developed are believed to exist to the eastward of the northward of the shoals and rocks outlined for a mile to a mile in an easterly and westerly direction with a mile to a mile and a half to the south and may serve as a warning when thick weather obscures the shore line in the vicinity

Two Suicides.

MEDFORD, Aug 8.—Mrs. Sears residing two miles out of the city committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself with a rubber cord around her neck, so tight as to produce strangulation She had been gloomy and despondent for several days Nothing unusual was noticed by her husband when he left for his office in the city, but at noon her son returned to the house and found her door locked He looked through the window and saw her lying dead on the floor

Mrs Mary Windermap, aged 75 residing on Canby street, committed suicide last evening with Paris green. She had lost her husband by yellow fever.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Claim Dismissed

WASHINGTON Sept. 8.—Sir Edward Thornton acting as claims commissioner rendered the following decision to-day on the claim of Maria B Jones, executrix, vs Mexico a claim arising out of a claim between the Mexican consul in S Francisco and the Mexican government and Messrs Cuellier and Co a French firm In connection with the transactions certain drafts were drawn by the consul on the Mexican treasury and indorsed by the maturity to secure a loan to an American house after which they were protested for non payment. Held by the umpire that as the persons were injured they were the proper church over whose wrongs the commission has no jurisdiction dismissed

A Test Case from the Treasury Department

CHICAGO Sept. 8.—A Washington special says a number of injunctions have been issued by the supreme court of this district against the secretary of the treasury to prevent the payment of certain moneys due on claims presented and allowed by the several departments and for the payment of which warrants have been drawn on the treasury This has been the practice of the court to a limited extent for some time past but of late it has grown to be such a source of annoyance that the secretary of the treasury has resolved to test the right of the court to interfere in such matters and as a preliminary step in this direction he has referred to the attorney general for a decision on the question as to whether the secretary of the treasury is bound to obey these injunctions The question is a very important one and involves, to some extent the protection of the individuals and government alike warranty have been drawn

Reforms in the Pension Service

CHICAGO Sept 8.—Commissioner Atkinson of the pension bureau in his forthcoming report to congress will call attention to the need of several legislative acts in order to help carry out the reforms he desires to institute in the pension service He wishes one to change the present system of medical examiners Those need a few local physicians who favor their pet patients and often give certificates to men not entitled to any claim upon the government As they are also paid by the case it is to their interest to present as many cases as possible. He proposes to change all this by appointing competent medical men who are to have districts assigned to them For such they are to be paid stated salaries This will decrease the number of officers and will directly save upwards of $100 000 annually in salaries besides saving vast sums to the government in paying fraudulent claims At present there are about 250 000 pensions paid and some 5 000 claims are under consideration while 15,000 certificates of disability are out unaccompanied by formal claims are on file in the bureau This makes the total of nearly a half million of cases

Gov. Ames Calls on the President for Aid

WASHINGTON Sept 8—The following dispatch was received at the executive mansion last night from Gov Ames of Mississippi

JACKSON Miss Sept

To His Excellency U S Grant President Washington—SIR Domestic violence in this county and form exists in certain parts of this state. On the last inst certain unauthorized and illegal armed bodies overthrew the civil authorities of Yazoo county and took forcible possession of said county from which the sheriff the peace officer of the county, was compelled to flee for safety and is still a refugee The sheriff of this county reports that since the 4th instant he has been unable after every effort to maintain peace and protect the right of citizens He reports various murders by unauthorized armed bodies who are scouring the country Women and children are reported as being in a state of terror from fear of the depredation of still larger unauthorized bodies and a feeling of insecurity prevails in other counties of the state After careful examination of all the reports I find myself compelled to appeal to the general government for the protection of citizens is entitled I do not now make a formal application under the provisions of the constitution of the United States but telegraph to you to know if you will regard a proclamation issued by you in December last on the application of the legislature of this state as still in force The necessity of immediate action cannot be overstated If your proclamation of December last is still in force I will at once make formal application in accordance with the provision of the constitution of the United States. ADELBERT AMES

The following reply has been sent to Gov Ames

EXECUTIVE MANSION WASHINGTON Sept. 8

To Adelbert Ames Jackson Miss The President has submitted your dispatch of yesterday asking if the proclamation of December last is still in force to the attorney general who decides it is not in force I notify you of his decision by direction of the President. (Signed) LOUIS LUCKLEY

MRS TILTON'S GIRLHOOD

HER MUSIC TEACHER'S STATEMENT

George Albert a music teacher now in Troy who says he taught Mrs Tilton to play on the piano, says of her girlhood She learned rapidly and at the end of six months she was as proficient as many are after a tuition of two years Otherwise Mrs Tilton was not a bright girl She had mild expressionless black eyes and was slim and pale She did not go to school but did work around the house for her mother She had many female friends and acquaintances but no suitors that the professor knew of She was too timid to have beaux and when he heard that she had married Tilton he was surprised He knew Tilton slightly and had heard Beecher preach The professor was astonished at Elizabeth's marriage with Tilton because of her quiet and retired disposition and of her devoutness to the Methodist faith She was a member of that church and during the professor's stay in the Morse mansion he never knew Lizzie to stay away from church but once and that was on account of a storm Then she asked him to go for her and get the text She never argued but accepted everything told her

Albert came to this country from Bohemia 29 years ago He went to Brooklyn where he took board at No 51 Sands street kept by Mrs Morse Mrs Morse (Mrs Tilton's mother) told Albert that she was a widow that her husband who had been a jeweler in New York died in debt and that she had to support herself by keeping boarders Albert says she kept a very genteel boarding house Lizzie Richards was then between 14 and 15 years old Mrs Morse, learning that Albert was a music teacher obtained a piano and engaged him to teach Lizzie music Mr Albert looked upon her as rather simple and child like In his own language she was as soft as a kettle kitten

Professor Albert remembers the first time that Mrs Tilton played a tune through without stopping It was the Schoubruner waltz by Lanner This was always her favorite tune and she tried hard to learn it The professor did not like to express his opinion of Mrs Morse It is sufficient that he thinks her to be worse than Tilton Beecher and Lizzie all put together Lizzie's coldness so contrasted with her mother's stormy disposition that one would not suppose she belonged to the same family When the professor heard of the scandal he was not surprised Lizzie was just the confiding devoted sort of girl that such a man as Beecher would ensnare Lizzie could be made to believe almost anything advanced by a person in whom she had confidence As a girl the professor never knew Mrs Tilton's veracity to be questioned She never told an untruth to his knowledge But in the scandal case she had to lie to save her friends and he believed she would do that at any time

THE FRENCH VAUDEVILLE.—There are two kinds of vaudevilles the old and the new The distinctive characteristic of the former is a series of couplets which are sung through out the piece without any good reason there for Suddenly without admonition of any kind a verse is sprung on the public with the brusqueness which characterizes the appearance of the immature devil in the bulbous, finishing all so abruptly then the playing is resumed where it was left off No dramatic author of merit now does this kind of work. The old vaudeville has really developed into the opera bouffe where a portion of the scenario necessary to the understanding of play is sung and the germ on appears very meagre and simple compared with the full orchestration and magnificent decorations of its offspring In some of the minor theaters authors of little note still occasionally put here and there musical airs into the mouths of people who do not know how to sing and to hear a comedian of the Barriere executing them with an absinthe voice shows the custom in its most ludicrous aspect What is now called the vaudeville the new one is the society play or comedy —Albert Rhodes, in the Galaxy for September

Meeting in Respect to the Memory of Pulaski—Speculation as to Its Objects

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 8.—Considerable curiosity of opinion prevails as to the objects of the meeting to night Ostensibly its sole purpose is as a tribute of respect to the memory of Pulaski which view is supported by the Post of last evening and the Chronicle of this morning There is evidence however of an undercurrent of feeling looking towards making it an indignation meeting in which the course pursued by the Bulletin and Call will be severely censured and an effort made to initiate a movement looking toward the destruction of their patronage and starving of opposition papers Hints have even been thrown out of more pronounced measures against these journals and their proprietors but the general impression seems to be that nothing will be done of a violent or incendiary character All the better elements engaged in the demonstration will exercise their influence again any thing of the kind striving to confine the meeting to its legitimate and ostensible purpose that of a tribute of respect and affection to the late Wm C Ralston

NEVADA

The Shoshones Quiet

AUSTIN Nev Sept 8—Referring to statements current in this vicinity to the effect that the Shoshone Indians have departed for the scene of rumored hostilities, and that signal fires have been blazing for several nights upon the peaks of the neighboring mountains, it may be as well to state that good authorities assert that the majority of the tribe allude to are either employed upon the various ranches in gathering pine nuts in the forests and that the alleged signal fires are simply fires lighted by scattered Indians for the purpose of roasting pine nuts and at this season of the year are not at all unusual

The Indian Troubles Grossly Exaggerated

The following telegraphic correspondence appears in the Recorder

ELKO Nev., Sept 7th

To Gen Rooker Commanding Camp Austin—Forward immediately all the arms and ammunition belonging to the state to Judge Cole Hamilton

J R BRADLEY Governor

This order was followed by the annexed telegram

ELKO Nev Sept 7

To Gen Rooker, Austin—Proceed at once to the scene of action Take charge of the artillery with full power and authority to act and command as you may think to the best interests of the state J R BRADLEY, Gov

Upon the contents of this telegram being made public the city showed signs of excitement and a heavy force would have been secured at once for Indian service, but General Rooker considered that the best interests of the state would be better subserved by considerate action, upon his part than by engaging a heavy force of men and pressing horses into into military service to the great inconvenience and prejudice of business, and with that opinion he telegraphed Major Dennis commanding a detachment from Eureka which reached Hamilton, for information as to the real situation and received the following reply

HAMILTON, Sept 7

To General Rooker Austin—Captain Kelly and myself leave in half an hour, with twenty five mounted men for the field Have more men than are required

JOHN H. DENNIS, Major

Upon receipt of this telegram from such excellent authority, General Rooker felt assured that the danger of the situation had been grossly exaggerated, and that there was no necessity of moving an armed force from this place and at once telegraphed the governor for further instructions The nature of the governor's reply has not transpired but from the fact of all military preparations having ceased here it is inferred that his excellency coincided in General Rooker's sensible views The Reveille of yesterday states that Wood the Indian interpreter says the Shoshones of this vicinity although belonging to the same family as the Shoshones to the eastward are under a different chief and would not go on the war path unless upon the decision of a general council

Distinguished Arrival

VICTORIA Sept 8—On board the French sloop of war Volta which yesterday arrived at this port from Yokohama via Hiogo and Nagasaki is Duc de Penthievre, second son of Prince de Joinville and grand son of King Louis Philippe who goes to join the French Pacific squadron shortly expected at San Francisco

CAPTAIN WEBB DISCOUNTS BOYTON

LONDON August 24.—Captain Webb started yesterday on his swim across the channel at the rate of 20 strokes to the minute The weather was calm At 5 30 he lunched on ale and beef tea and at 8 o clock beef tea and beer He then rested floating on his back At 9 o clock he was troubled with floating seaweed At 11 o clock cod liver oil was given him The moon rose at 1 in the morning He indulged in brandy and tea At this time Webb declared the accomplishment of the feat a sure thing At 2 he partook of coffee then the tide turned running northward and the captain appeared exhausted His trainer stripped to his undergarments but Webb haughtingly declined his services His strokes at this time were at the rate of 50 per minute Fears arose that the northern tide would drift him abreast of the Calais sands and as the sequel proved he had four miles further to swim Daylight broke at 4 o clock finding him drowsy when he indulged in coffee and brandy At 5 30 Ridens buoys were sighted and their position located At 7 there was a westerly breeze and chopping sea retarding in their influences, and it was only indomitable pluck that insured success A skiff was kept on the weather side Webb swimming slowly from this time He indulged in brandy straight every twenty minutes Soundings were taken at 8 o clock and ten fathoms reported Steamers now made their appearance from Calais and steamed along the weather side of the swimmer breaking the sea Cheers rang on incessantly giving fresh hope to the gallant swimmer who had a direct course for Calais sands westward of the pier At 10 30 o clock he was in shallow water and at 10 40 to the incredible to relate, the brave Matthew Webb stood on land He was tired but soon recovered and was conveyed to a hotel in a carriage where he was rubbed down and put to bed and at 1 o clock when the correspondent sailed on his return to Dover, tranquilly slept The doctors have no fears of serious consequence. Captain Webb naked beats Paul Boyton about two hours In London the wildest excitement prevails It is pronounced by the press the greatest physical feat of the century

LAST COLLISION.—An ancient duke leaned over the iron street gate yesterday and called to the dusky proprietor of the house "See here Mr Henry isn't you bout ready to pay me dat ten bits?

"I reckon nuffin to pay wid" was the reply

"You borrowed dat money 'whole year ago Henry" continued the old man

"Can't help dat—can't pay"

"Henry I believes you don't want to pay I believes you is dishonest and I neber ask for the money to 'fend the 'fend to collect it

"Shoo!" exclaimed Henry greatly interested all at once "you hasn't any more money to lend on dose terms has you?"

A soldier disgusted with life at Walla Walla last week swallowed five ounces of laudanum which was too much to kill him He thinks he won't try to shuffle off this mortal in that way again

THE GREENBACK CONVENTION'S PLATFORM

Here is the financial policy of the greenback convention held at Detroit Aug 26 as formulated by themselves

Resolved 1 That it is people owe to the government at all times and in all emergencies a loan of money adequate to its needs at a rate of interest so low as to be the least possible burden and to offer the least possible competition to private enterprise

2 The government owes to the people an absolutely safe and uniform currency adapted to their varying need in amount and of a value not materially different from that of other civilized nations

3 That the providing of a currency for the people is an attribute of sovereignty and we demand that the government of the United States shall perform this duty in such a manner as to furnish the public an amount of currency adequate to the business requirements of the country and independent of the action of banks or other private corporations

4 That we are neither repudiationists nor inflationists but the friends of a safe, sound, and reliable currency that we propose to redeem the greenback circulation of the United States at the pleasure of the holders thereof in bonds of the United States bearing a low rate of interest convertable at the pleasure of the holders into greenbacks thus redeeming the original promise of the government when it first issued greenbacks—to fund them when desired into an interest-paying bond

5 That we are in favor of the issue of United States certificates or bonds bearing interest not to exceed 3 65 per cent per annum to an amount equal to the whole government debt said bonds or certificates being exchangeable and interchangeable with greenbacks at par on demand

6 That the legal money of the country should be endowed with the power to pay all debts public and private except that portion of the bonded indebtedness specially made payable in coin

7 That as the enactment of the last congress providing for a resumption of specie payments in 1879 is impracticable and impossible of execution and is disastrous in its effects upon the business of the country we demand its immediate and unconditional repeal

8 That the plan of government currency proposed by this convention would in our opinion tend to render our government and people independent financially of foreign influences or combinations and not subject hereafter as heretofore to the disturbing control or influence of foreign governments

9 That we recommend the organization of greenback clubs in every state in the union for the purpose of carrying out these principles and measures

FOREIGN CAPITAL FOR THE SOUTH

If the following, from the Philadelphia Times is entirely correct it is a cheering fact to the South

There are now in the Southern states a number of English merchants and business men of various kinds Their object is to effect arrangements if possible for the establishment of direct trade between Great Britain, the Mississippi valley and the West They have already presented their plans and views to the business men and organizations of Galveston Mobile Atlanta, Memphis and St Louis and mean to visit other places for a like mission and purpose It is understood the English gentlemen represent a co-operative society that now numbers 500 000 members and has a rent capital of $25 000,000, and that both members and money can be raised to any mark desired While in New Orleans these representatives visited the improvements at the mouth of Mississippi and expressed the opinion that the jetties will so deepen the stream that within a twelvemonth the largest ocean ships can safely enter there and proceed up the river to their destination This, they assert, will remove any obstacle in the way of direct trade with Europe and avoid the necessity of shipping grain over a thousand miles of railroad to New York before it can be reshipped to England They offer to furnish ships and send a large number of emigrants into the Mississippi valley as soon as a branch of the co operative company can be formed These gentlemen should visit Philadelphia and examine its connections with the grain growing sections of the West and also its facilities for shipping grain to England before having down any positive course of action We can ship grain and flour from Chicago into Liverpool in seventeen days and that cannot be equaled by way of the Mississippi or any other route that may be opened or improved in this country When examining into this matter of direct trade with England those engaged in the work should make their efforts exhaustive

HOW LONDON AMUSES ITSELF ON SUNDAY

Dreadly respectable Profoundly solemn Stupidly quiet these are the terms one hears applied to the conventional London Sunday I think they are somewhat exaggerated Quiet respectable in the ordinary acceptation of the terms a London Sunday assuredly is but fashion society, rests not even with the closing of the week There is still something to do —still some social pleasure or duty which is made peculiar to the Sabbath A certain veil of stillness seems to have fallen over town and city when you rise on Sunday morning,—a sort of tranquil smile of resignation as it were on the streets and squares About ten o clock the stillness is broken in upon by the cries of street vendors of fruits and vegetables as men and boys pass beneath your windows with hand carts laden with the debris of Saturday markets No one seems to consider their errand or occupation a desecration of the day, and for the matter of that no one seems to think of patronizing them! They pursue their cheerful calling, unencouraged and unmolested

The services in the various churches are held at eleven o'clock In the approved of Church of England service there is less show, ritual than in the High Church of America but much more formality it seems to us than in the ordinary Episcopal service at home

Luncheon on the Sunday is somewhat later than through the week and about four o clock we drive to the Zoo'—a singular amusement for Sunday afternoon but dictated by fashion We go in at the Regents park entrance and down the broad walk to the outer circle where are the entrances to the Zoological Gardens On Sundays only fellows of the society and their friends are admitted hence the reason of its being so recherché to go Within the magic circle the animals human and otherwise, are proudly disporting I remember seeing a pretty girl and her cavalier before the monkeys cage and hearing the latter a heavy Dundreary say with his eye glasses fixed upon the cage "So nice to come here you know, cousin Arabella isn't it? One sees everybody one knows Whereupon cousin Arabella smiles something ironically It is really the place to meet one's friends and what with the animals and an energetic keeper with them and the band out in the park the afternoon is pleasantly whiled away —The Galaxy for September

HOW TO CURE THE HICCOUGHS.—Apropos of the recent death of Lemon out in California from the hiccoughs somebody says that a sure cure is to grasp the sufferer tightly by the back of the neck and have him hold his breath as long as possible And, by the way somebody else tells this story of how he discovered a sure cure for the toothache Alum and salt were produced my friend pulverized them and mixed in equal quantities he then wet a small piece of cotton causing the mixed powders to adhere, and placed it in my hollow tooth "There" said he "if that does not cure you I will forfeit my head You may tell this in Goth and publish it in Askelon the remedy is infallible" It was so I experienced a sensation of coldness on applying it which gradually subsided and with it the torment of the toothache

OREGON

We learn that a daily will shortly be issued from the Mercury office at Salem

Union county fair will be held near La Grande on the same week as the Oregon state fair beginning Oct 11th

The Mountain Sentinel published at La Grande has completed its first volume under the control of Messrs McComas & Stevens

There seems to be a general disposition on the part of the farmers in the interior not to sell their wheat until they first get it all safe in the granary

Monte Cristo George Coggans' fine young racer fell while being exercised at La Grande on Thursday morning of last week and very seriously hurt his trainer Billy Leigh

Matt Hyde superintendent of the Virtue mine has forbidden the employes under him to patronize the saloon recently erected near the mine on the penalty of being discharged

The annual Sabbath school convention will be held at the crossing of Grand Ronde river, near the residence of Dr Wm Proebstel, on the third Sabbath in this month commencing at 10 o clock A M Extensive preparations will be made to ensure a very interesting and profitable meeting

A La Grande firm advertise that, owing to the ravages of grasshoppers in Kansas and the failure of the Bank of California they are determined to close out a large stock of standard prints They will sell at the following rates for the next thirty days Ten yards for $1 cash, or $10 for one yard approved pawbone

A correspondent of the Sentinel says "The failure of the Bank of California has hurt many a man of wealth in Baker county A rich company of miners at Rye valley had perhaps not less than $25 000 deposited in that bank so also did several wealthy miners and merchants about Mormon basin have large amounts there deposited Martin Ludwig the brewer of early days had a large amount in the bank"

Mr Moonaw the deputy sheriff of Baker county passed through La Grande last week, having in custody two prisoners charged with stealing a couple of mules on Burnt river, a short time ago He arrested the parties near Weston in Umatilla county They will have an opportunity to rise and explain before his Honor, Judge McArthur at next term of court as to how they came to engage passage on the hurricane deck of somebody else's mule, from Baker to Weston, without the knowledge or consent of the owner

The La Grande Sentinel says Island City, Union county was visited on Monday night of last week with a very severe frost, which did considerable damage to vegetables Mr John Scranton had about one half acre of very promising broom corn which was also very materially damaged if not entirely destroyed by the frost Old settlers in this valley have become accustomed to expect a few scattering showers or some cold weather during the month of August or first of September but we have certainly experienced more of both than usual during the past two weeks

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 9, 1875.

WILL MR. LANE RESPOND?

The Evening Journal takes exception to the introduction of the common school question into political discussions at this time, assuming that such discussion is directed against the Democratic candidate for congress. After protesting that there is more made of the question than its importance in the present state of politics warrants, the Journal proceeds to declare that it has no doubt that if the question were put to Mr. Lane, whether or not he is in favor of a division of the school funds, he would respond with an emphatic "No." But the question is put to him every day, and the country has not been favored with that emphatic negative. We repeat, the question is put to him every day. The platforms of the Republicans and Independents put it to him. It is one of the standing interrogatories which he is required to answer. For some time past the party he represents has been suspected of being in sympathy with the opposition to the public schools, and with all the various forms of attack upon the system, prominent among which is the demand for a division of the public school funds for sectarian purposes; and there has been no authoritative disavowal of that sentiment by the party in Oregon. The Democracy have chosen to meet the accusation with silence. The other two parties recognized the truth that the question is already before the people, and they both defined their positions fairly and explicitly. But the Democrat party, assembled in State convention, declined to commit itself on the subject. Its standard bearer cannot, therefore, reasonably complain at being called upon by the press, as he is called upon by the platforms of the other parties, and by the well defined suspicions of almost the entire community, to state his position, and that in unequivocal terms. There has never been any distrust of the Republican party on this subject. Its givings out have always been on the side of the most liberal system of popular education and the entire freedom of the schools from sectarian influences. The instincts of the Republican masses on this as well as most of the other great questions of the time have always been right, and consequently there is less occasion for their conventions to put forth a definite avowal of their sentiments, than for the Democrats to do so. But the Democrats stand mute, and the suspicion against them grows stronger. It is for Mr. Lane to set his party and himself right on this subject, if they are unjustly accused. Let him give the country the emphatic "no," which his advocate in this city is so confident he would give if the question were put to him directly. When he does so, but not till then, we shall believe him willing to meet the issue.

REPUBLICANS FACING ABOUT.

We call the special attention of our readers, especially Republicans, to the remarks of Senator Morgan in the Republican state convention of New York, as reported by telegraph this morning. If the views expressed by him had prevailed in the counsels of the party, and guided its practices heretofore, there would have been no divisions or disaffections in its ranks, and if they prevail henceforth it will be possible for Republicans to cooperate in the future. As the presidential election draws near, it becomes constantly more manifest that there are to be but two parties in that contest; and a realization of the importance of securing harmonious relations among people of Republican sentiments lifts those of the party leaders who are not controlled by personal considerations to a higher plane than that upon which the organization has stood since the election of 1872; while the independence which the voting masses have shown during this period has demonstrated the necessity of an abandonment by the managers of the unobjectionable practices that have obtained. These facts explain how it is possible for a man of recognized standing in the party to speak as Morgan spoke yesterday, and not be hissed from the stand and driven out of the party. As the party lash loses its terrors and the individual responsibility of the voter finds that recognition inside the organization, the tendency to disintegration will become less marked, and the party will become stronger. It is not the application of unreasonable discipline, but the allowance of liberty of conscience to every member, and the maintenance of purity by discountenancing all manner of political scoundrelism, that secures popular confidence and insures strength and elasticity and permanency to a party.

A CORRECTION.

Our attention has been called to an error we committed the other day with relation to the position of the Washington Independent. We stated that it had hauled down the name of Warren and hoisted that of Whitney for Congress. We were of opinion that such was the case, but on our attention being called more particularly we find that we were in error as to the hauling down of Warren's name. The Independent had never hoisted Warren's name, except conditionally. What it had said was, in substance, that it would prefer Warren to Lane, and might be compelled to support him, with a protest against his platform, unless Mr. Whitney should make a satisfactory explanation of the facts connected with his unfortunate start in the race. This explanation having been made to the satisfaction of the Independent, that paper consistently supports Mr. Whitney.

We make this correction cheerfully, for we do not desire to misstate the position of any other journal, or to be the means of putting any erroneous impression in circulation respecting those with whom we may happen to disagree.

A VERY DIRTY BUSINESS.

A San Francisco telegram mentions a rumor that a meeting of citizens of that metropolis, called ostensibly for the purpose of paying a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Wm. C. Ralston, has a different object in view, namely, the expression of indignation at the course of the Bulletin and Call, in exposing the rotten condition of the Bank of California before it suspended. If that rumor has any foundation, the promoters of the meeting are showing themselves up in a very unenviable light. It would be difficult to imagine a more disreputable piece of business than that of taking advantage of the grief of a community over the death of one of its prominent members, to hoodwink people into taking sides with a lot of sensation managers in their raid upon legitimate business. We can hardly conceive it possible for any considerable number of respectable citizens of San Francisco to consent to the use of Ralston's dead body as an instrument with which to perpetrate a gross indecency and an unmitigated fraud upon the rest of the world. As to any effect that such a proceeding could have on the two papers named, the conspirators might "resolute till the cows come home," and it would amount to nothing. Respectable journals do not hold their positions by so frail a tenure that they can be destroyed by such means.

ORLANDO HUMASON.

The announcement of the death of Hon. Orlando Humason will be received with sorrow throughout the country. He died yesterday morning at his residence at the Dalles, after a protracted and painful illness, at the age of 48 years.

Judge Humason was a native of Trumbull county, Ohio, whence he removed to Texas in 1849. From there he went across Mexico to Mazatlan and thence to California in 1850, and to Oregon in the spring of 1851. He was a printer by trade, and was employed by Asahel Bush, Esq., on the territorial printing, in 1851, at the time of the first session of the Legislature that was held at Salem. Soon after he settled in Yamhill county, where, in connection with John A. Sims, he engaged in farming. He was elected to the Legislature from Yamhill in 1852. In the following year he removed to the Dalles, and on the organization of Wasco county was its first representative in the Legislature. For some time after locating at the Dalles he was connected in business with the trading firm of Newell, McKinley & Co., and afterwards engaged in the transportation business on the Columbia, above the Dalles. That was before the steamboat plied upon those waters, the transportation being carried on with batteaux. Then, when the steamer took the place of that primitive craft, he engaged in the transportation of freight over the portage between Dalles and the mouth of the Des Chutes, where the Dalles and Celilo railway now affords the means of transportation. He was never idle. His active mind was full of enterprise, and his hands found something to do in connection with every undertaking that looked to the development of Eastern Oregon. In public and private life his influence was always felt. He was vigilant and cautious at all times, but never timid. In the Legislature, where he served several times, the last being in 1870, he was the leader of his party and one of the most accomplished parliamentarians in any party. Though not regularly educated for the bar in his youth, he studied the law in after years, and for some years before his death was regarded as a skillful practitioner and a safe counsellor.

A year or more ago Humason was taken with that fatal malady, Bright's disease of the kidneys, and from that time he considered his work as done. Last spring he sought relief in travel. He visited different places on the Pacific coast, including the springs of southern California, but without benefit. Coming home during the summer he placed himself under the care of physicians of this city, but the progress of the disease could not be arrested, and he made up his mind some weeks ago that his time of departure was near.

Judge Humason leaves a wife and children to mourn his loss; and the entire community where he lived mingle tears of as sincere though less poignant grief, with those of the weeping family.

Governor Ames, of Mississippi, wants help. There is a riot somewhere in the State of which he is the ostensible ruler. A sheriff or constable, or something of that sort, has been intimidated, and the amiable Ames wants it quelled, and has called upon the president to place the army of the United States at his disposal for that purpose. The president has taken the subject under prayerful consideration, and may conclude to render the desired assistance, if the riot does not collapse before he makes up his mind—which would be a terrible calamity. The outrage mill has not been grinding for such a long time that it is a positive relief from the monotony of Southern politics to have another grist turned out. It is to be hoped the president will send the army to Ames. There could be but one better thing than that, and that better thing for the people of Mississippi would be for Ames to take up his carpet-bag and go back to Massachusetts, and let Mississippi have a good night's rest.

Sacramento has a new independent daily paper, called the Enterprise. It presents a very creditable appearance, and displays editorial ability. If the projectors of the Enterprise calculate upon making it take the place of that truly great paper, the Union, they have set up for themselves a high standard.

The Liberal Republican state central committee of New York have issued a call for a state convention, to be held at Albany on the 22d of September, to nominate a state ticket.

The Democratic State convention of Pennsylvania is in session at Erie. The prominent candidates for the nomination for governor are A. H. Dill and A. C. Noyes.

SHERIDAN'S RECEPTION AT SALEM.—Our ular correspondent sends the following having been noised around that General P Sheridan would arrive in this city to-day, route to his old 'tramping grounds' on Grand Round Reservation, was sufficient inducement to draw out a large crowd on arrival of the regular mail train from P city. To the astonishment of many a spe train had been provided, which arrived sh by his wife and brother, and the party imm diately entered carriages and drove to the C moketa Hotel, where apartments had alre been provided. A few moments spent in barber shop placed him in trim to pay his spects to Governor Grover, whither he w conducted by 'Little Chad,' who, in his u al affable manner, acted as master of cere nies. An impromptu reception was then h in the Chemeketa Hotel parlors. Mr. Sm prepared an elegant repast for the dist gnished party, after which it was taken cha of by the omnipresent One-armed Brown, w having secured a private conveyance, at o started with the trio for the Grand Ron Agency, where Indian Agent Sinnott will doubtedly give them a cordial reception, call together his braves to do the general h or. They will probably return on Frid The hero of Winchester proved the center attraction during his stay, his every mo ment being watched by an inquisitive cro eager to see one whose name has become household world from ocean to ocean, whose recent matrimonial festivities can such a flutter in fashionable social circles."

LEG CRUSHED—FATAL ACCIDENT.—Last ev ing Mr. T. Mulkey, who formerly resided Lane county, near Eugene City, but who n lives in Wasco county, gave us a call. T gentleman has just been called upon to end a sad bereavement, the sudden death of a loved son. On Tuesday morning Mr. Mulk received a telegram, conveying the startli intelligence that his son John, a young m aged 21 years, had met with a fatal accid on the farm of an older brother who resi near Eugene City, and that there were not slightest hopes of his recovery. The you man, it seems, had one of his thighs bad crushed by having a team run away with h on Monday. He also received other ser injuries, so that his case was pronounced ho less by his physicians. Mr. Mulkey li about fifty miles from The Dalles, and miles from the stage road leading from Un tilla to the former place. On receipt of the news the anxious father mounted a horse a rode with all speed to the stage station. Go fortune favored him, and he intercepted t stage coming from Umatilla just in time. reached The Dalles on Tuesday evening, arrived here on the boat yesterday. Reach Portland a dispatch was awaiting from his e est son acquainting the father of the death John. He died on Monday night, and the mains were buried on Tuesday afternoon. day Mr. Mulkey will proceed by rail to gene. He has the sincere sympathy of a la number of friends in this afflictive dispen sation of providence. It is a sad stroke, a falls heavily on the hearts of parents and k dred.

BURIED ALIVE.—A man whose name were unable to ascertain, had a very narro escape from death last evening about 7 o'clo Mr. Chas. McGinn, who has just opened bakery on First street, caused a new bri oven to be constructed, which was finish yesterday. A man in his employment crawl into the oven last evening for the purpose clearing out the mortar and fragments brick preparatory to baking. While thus gaged, the whole top of the oven sudden caved in and came down on the man, pinni him fast as if held in a vise. The alarm given, and several persons rushed to the re cue. To their dismay they could only see t feet of the unfortunate fellow just protrudi beyond the bricks. All his body was co pletely buried beneath the heap of brick a mortar, and, as a matter of course, every thought was the result of gross carelessne Very properly, considering that all was right, Mr. Corbett informed Chief Lappe who lost no time in telegraphing to Orego City to have the brace arrested. The ord was promptly complied with, and Smith ar rightly were soon in the clutches of an offic They were placed in jail, and yesterday mor ing officer Hudson went up to bring the down. Soon after reaching the city the m were released from jail on paying all damag done to the vehicle and making everythi good. It seems that there was no purp

LEG CRUSHED—FATAL ACCIDENT —Last evening Mr T Mulkey, who formerly resided in Lane county, near Eugene City but who now lives in Wasco county gave us a call This gentleman has just been called upon to endure a sad bereavement, the sudden death of a beloved son On Tuesday morning Mr Mulkey received a telegram, conveying the startling intelligence that his son John, a young man aged 21 years, had met with a fatal accident on the farm of an older brother who resides near Eugene City and that there were not the slightest hopes of his recovery The young man it seems, had one of his thighs badly crushed by having a team run away with him on Monday He also received other severe injuries so that his case was pronounced hopeless by his physicians Mr Mulkey lives about fifty miles from The Dalles and six miles from the stage road leading from Umatilla to the former place On receipt of the sad news the anxious father mounted a horse and rode with all speed to the stage station Good fortune favored him, and he intercepted the stage coming from Umatilla just in time He reached The Dalles on Tuesday evening and arrived here on the boat yesterday Reaching Portland a dispatch was awaiting from his oldest son acquainting the father of the death of John He died on Monday night, and the remains were buried on Tuesday afternoon To day Mr Mulkey will proceed by rail to Eugene. He has the sincere sympathy of a large number of friends in this his afflictive dispensation of providence It is a sad stroke and falls heavily on the hearts of parents and kindred.

BURIED ALIVE —A man whose name we were unable to ascertain had a very narrow escape from death last evening about 7 o clock, Mr. Chas. McGhan, who has just opened a bakery on First street, caused a new brick oven to be constructed, which was finished yesterday A man in his employment crawled into the oven last evening for the purpose of cleaning out the mortar and fragments of brick preparatory to baking While thus engaged the whole top of the oven suddenly caved in and came down on the man pinning him fast as if held in a vise The alarm was given and several persons rushed to the rescue To their dismay they could only see the feet of the unfortunate fellow just protruding beyond the bricks All his body was completely buried beneath the heap of brick and mortar, and, as a matter of course, every one supposed that he had been crushed to death almost instantly, as no person could reasonably be expected to live under such a weight With all possible haste the debris was removed, and the man exhumed from what was thought to be his living grave Instead of finding him dead, with his body crushed he was found to be comparatively uninjured only one leg slightly bruised How he escaped with his life seems almost miraculous A physician was summoned, but on making an examination pronounced his injuries of a very slight character

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.—The Walla Walla Union has the following A citizen of this place who has just returned from Portland says that the wheat is several inches deep on the wharf at Portland, where it has leaked out of the sacks. This is the wharf where our wheat is handled and the loss is our loss The sacks are not of the best material to start with then in many cases they are poorly sown and they are handled about eighteen times before they arrive at this wharf, and roughly handled at that. When we remember that at each time the sacks are handled there must be more or less waste, and then see the amount that is lost at this one place of handling we can form some idea of the amount that is scattered all along the route If our people would be more careful about sewing their sacks, they would save hundreds of bushels of wheat in the course of the season ' We are on the wharf referred to almost every day, and we know that the above statement overshoots the mark very considerably as far as the waste of grain there is concerned Of course where so much wheat is handled some will be spilled, but to say that it is several inches deep on a wharf 400 feet long is saying rather more than any Walla Walla citizen who cares for his reputation for truth would be willing to assert

A COSTLY RIDE.—On Tuesday afternoon two men, named respectively Frank Rielly and Wm Smith, hired a horse and buggy of Mr R Corbett, ostensibly for the purpose of driving to the White House. Late in the afternoon Mr. Corbett learned that the men had gone to Oregon City instead of to the White House. When near the former place both springs of the vehicle broke down The animal had been driven unmercifully hard from its appearance and the accident it was thought, was the result of gross carelessness Very properly, considering that all was not right, Mr. Corbett informed Chief Lappeus, who lost no time in telegraphing to Oregon City to have the brace arrested The order was promptly complied with and Smith and Rielly were soon in the clutches of an officer They were placed in jail and yesterday morning officer Hudson sent up to bring them down Soon after reaching the city the men were released from jail on paying all damages done to the vehicle and making everything good. It seems that there was no purpose to commit larceny on the part of these men but the whole trouble was the occasion of their getting on a spree.

JANE A. FALKENBURG —This barkentine arrived here yesterday morning in tow of the Brotham from Astoria, bringing a full cargo of sugar and molasses The vessel sailed from Honolulu on the 18th ult, and after a pleasant voyage arrived off the bar on the 6th No vessels were seen standing off the bar when the Falkenburg passed in Capt Brown informs us that when he left Honolulu the Mattie Macleay was lying there She had been on the ways and was thoroughly repaired and was expected to sail for Portland about the 20th of August with a full cargo The Mattie Macleay may be expected to arrive here in a short time.

SHIPMENT OF BARLEY —One thousand sacks of barley came down the Columbia on the Oneonta Tuesday evening Great quantities of this grain are being shipped from Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory by the O S & Co s boats The principal consumption of barley is in the manufacture of malt liquor If the quantity of barley shipped here can be taken as an evidence it can be asserted with perfect safety that much lager beer and ale is daily absorbed in Portland

AT THE BONEYARD —The steamer Bonita which met with an accident on Tuesday afternoon, is now lying at the boneyard Work men began yesterday morning to make the required repairs Yesterday morning the steamer Welcome took the place of the Bonita and to-morrow morning the Lurma Hayward will be dispatched for Astoria It is thought that the disabled steamer will be able to resume the line next Monday morning

THE GARIBALDI —This vessel under command of Capt C M Noyes which has been loading with lumber for some time at the foot of Jefferson street will complete her cargo in a few days She will sail hence for Hongkong about the 20th inst. The Garibaldi's cargo will consist of 325 000 feet of lumber In addition she will carry away 100 Chinese passengers for the Flowery Kingdom

MEETING —Members of the Unitarian church and others interested in this work are requested to attend a meeting this evening at 7½ o clock

BRIEF NOTES.

Board of delegates meet to night

The steamer John L. Stephens brought to port 750 tons of assorted cargo

Frank Gilder is now en route to New York, accompanied by a concert troupe

The steamer John I Stephens is announced to sail hence this afternoon at 4 o clock

A quartz mill was sent to the Virtue mines Baker City this week, by the Willamet Iron Works

Members of the Washington Guard will observe notice of meeting for drill in advertising columns

Thirty eight arrests have been made thus far the present month by the police Crime is evidently on the increase

As yet no clue has been obtained of the burglars who entered Judge Archbald's store at Hillsboro on Sunday night

The literary and musical entertainment which was to have been given last evening at Museum Hall has been postponed until the 14th inst

The barge Autocrat was towed alongside Flanders wharf yesterday afternoon to receive a lot of iron for the Wallula and Walla Walla railroad

At the intersection of Stark and Front streets the original plan of placing down Nicolson pavement has been abandoned, and heavy plank substituted

The Sea Waif brought up 240 tons iron—2 300 rails—which is being discharged This iron is for the Walla Walla and Wallula railroad and will be shipped to its destination in a few days

In a few days the Wm H Besse will be taken to the foot of Jefferson street to load with lumber for Hongkong China She will load with lumber sawed at Smith Bros mill A number of Chinese passengers will go on the Besse

Advices have been received from Walla Walla to the effect that Mark Twain' the well known trotter is crippled and will not be able to put in an appearance at the races which are advertised to come off at the River side course on Saturday

Zimmerman and Frazer have sold the right to improve and manufacture the net manufacturing machine, invented by Matthias Jensen to W T Everson and S G Bunting of this city These parties will make improvements and otherwise push the invention to a speedy completion

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

There will be a shooting match—free to all—at the White House, on Saturday afternoon at 1 o clock Quails will be used instead of pigeons which is calculated to render the sport more exciting, and materially lessen the chances of success of those participating. These birds are much quicker than pigeons and the instant the trap is sprung the little prisoner is off like a flash, thus requiring great rapidity of movement combined with steadiness of nerve and accuracy of aim on the part of the sportsman

Saturday afternoon an exciting race will come off over the Riverside track for a purse of $500 $340 to the first horse; $150 to the second mile heats 3 in 5 to harness free to all C E Bishop enters bk s Unknown B B Acker enters b s Eph Maynard, J J Welch enters bk m Little Mollie Mr Chas E Bishop s black stallion, which is entered as an unknown horse The animal was brought from California or the East It is not known how fast he is as it is said that the owners are disposed to be mum on the subject We are requested to state that no admission fee will be charged ladies entering the race grounds A special policeman will be present, and strict order and decorum maintained

REPORTS OF OFFICERS

Chief Engineer Hallock presented the following report

OFFICE OF CHIEF ENGINEER }
PORTLAND Sept 8 1875 }

To the Mayor and Common Council—GENTLEMEN I beg leave to call your attention to the following matters concerning the fire department

The carbolized hose now in use by the department is decaying very rapidly On every occasion of its use some of it is bursted as you will find from the many bills for its repair and in my opinion it is necessary you should make provision for the purchase of 3 000 feet of hose at an early day

I invite your attention to the present and coming surroundings of the bell tower At the south side in close proximity is very large wooden building as in course of erection This together with the other wooden buildings near it, in case of fire will greatly endanger if not consume it together with the bell and striking apparatus, by which the city would suffer a loss of about $6 000 To my mind it would be good policy to insure the bell and striker provided it can be done at reasonable rates

The past week the department was called out to assist in the extinguishment of fire in the hold of a large ship lying at one of the wharves occasioned as is thought, by the use of candles in the hold of the vessel This I am informed is frequently done aboard vessels lying in port It is very dangerous not only to vessels but should they be consulted to the surrounding property as well and in my opinion an ordinance passed by your body forbidding the use of any other except covered lights below decks of vessels and providing a penalty for its violation with a moiety to the informer will in the future result beneficially to all Respectfully yours, &c

WHO KEEPS DEAD FLOWERS?

Who keeps dead flowers? Not I—indeed, not I;
The world is wild with blossoms, and the sky
Drops roses, and the regal moon damped night
Brings sculptured lilies, carved of perfect light!

Who keeps dead flowers? Thenceforth away with these,
The ashy ghosts of sad anemones!
With dimpled, blushing buds refill the vase,
Dipped in the laughing wine of summer days!

Who keeps dead flowers? What! a loving friend
Did last spring give thee these, and now can end
Has come to all his love? Life's full to-day
Of friends, fresh friends, fresh flowers,—fling these away.

Who keeps dead flowers? Alas! one Summer day,
Teaches how many, many turn away
From life's fresh-blooming and bewildering towers,
To sigh in secret, and to keep dead flowers!

Who keeps dead flowers? An angel came one night,
And passed by all the happy, left the bright
And laughing ones, and took—Oh! was it meet?
Only dead flowers—and laid them at God's feet.

"TOM."

Plain Tom. It might have been more than Tom once, when he was a babe, and had father and mother, some one to care for him, even if they had but little love for him. After they died—after he was turned on the wide world to fight his own way, to hunger for food, to yearn for sympathy and kind words, his name was "Tom." It was name enough for a waif—a ragged, hungry boy, who received more kicks than pennies, and who used to sit on the postoffice steps and try to remember when anyone had spoken a kind word to him.

The boy sometimes wondered and pondered over the words "sympathy," "mercy" and "charity." He heard people use them—the same people who cuffed him about, and were content to see him in rags. He thought the words must mean something way off—something he could not grasp then, but might approach when he had grown to man's estate. If Tom's voice had sadness or sorrow in it as he cried "shine!" or if it had exultation as he shouted "morning papers!" no one in the busy throng seemed to notice or care. He realized that he was standing up single-handed to battle against a great world, and sometimes when the world struck him down the boy crept away into an alley to sorrow and grieve that he had ever been born.

They found a bundle of rags in a public hallway yesterday morning. The old janitor pushed at the bundle with his broom, and growled and muttered over its being left there by some vagrant. The bundle of rags was Tom. The janitor bent over him, and pushed at him again, and called to him to rise up and go about his business; but the bundle did not move. Tom was dead. One arm was thrown around his boot-box, that it might not be stolen while he slumbered, the other rested on his breast, fingers tightly clenched, as if death had come while the boy was resolving to carry on the unequal battle against poverty and a cold world to the bitter end.

There should have been sadness in the hearts of those who lifted up the body and sent it away to be buried in Potter's field, but there was not. They were men, to be sure, but they could not understand how it made any difference to the world whether it had one waif more or less. They couldn't feel the heart-aches which Tom had felt—his desperation—his grim despair—his bitter, crushing, every-day sorrows. They should move, at least, uncovered their heads as the body was lifted up, and said to each other: "He was brave to fight such a battle." But they did not. There would have been no word, no eulogy, had not another waif passed the door by chance. He saw the body, recognized it, and as he let his box fall to the flags that he might brush away a tear from his eye, he whispered:

"If there are angels, I know that Tom'll see 'em!"

And no man shall dare to take from or add to the simple, tearful eulogy. There will be a shallow grave, which will soon sink out of sight and memory, and scarce a month will pass away before even the lad's name will be forgotten by the world—the world which prides itself on its charity and mercy, and which let poor Tom stand up alone in his battle for food and raiment and a place to rest his feet; let him creep off to die alone in the shadows of midnight, feeling in his young heart that every man's hand was against him because he was a waif, a ragged, hungering orphan.—Detroit Free Press.

SUBMARINE CITY.—A Kingston, Jamaica, correspondent of the Buffalo Courier says: "In the latter end of the last century old Port Royal disappeared beneath the waves in an earthquake, leaving no other memorial behind than these few patches of reefs. In calm and clear evenings, when there is not a ripple on the glassy surface of the sea, you may look down into fifteen fathoms of water and see submerged houses, towers and churches; with sharks swimming quietly in and out of the open windows of their belfries. The work of centuries was destroyed in a few moments by one single convulsive throb of the thin film on which man has lived and speculated for ages past. An American diving company, instigated in their enterprise by tales of untold wealth buried beneath the sea by this sudden shock, rescued no treasures but the big bell suspended still in the bell tower, and donated the same to the museum of the island, where it may be seen, with many puzzling inscriptions upon it, which nobody as yet has been able to decipher."

SHE YIELDED.—It was the twilight hour, and they were meandering over the execrable sidewalks on Veto street. He was blacker than the king of clubs, and she could discount the ten-spot of spades.

"Susan, I lub you!" he suddenly remarked.

"Shoo! Go long!" she replied.

"Susan, will yer marry me?" he continued.

"Go long wid yu, Pete!"

"If yer don't, I shall embrace de floatin' waters ob de dark ribber. Den de coroner will haul me out an' sot on me; dey'll plant me under de roses, an' de verdict will be, "Dat feller died ob a broken heart!"

"Yu don't mean dat, Pete?"

"I do, Susan!"

"Den, Pete," she said, as she sighed heavily, "den it's my dooty to marry yu to save yer life, an' de weddin' is to cum off in de fall!"

And they clasped hands and rolled their eyes and stumbled along.—Vicksburg Herald.

HUMAN NATURE IN A HORSE.—There is a good deal of human nature in a horse. A friend was recently telling us of a lazy animal, owned by an acquaintance of his, which he was accustomed to harness with another horse of more willing disposition. The lazy brute soon discovered the readiness of his companion to take the burden on himself, and accordingly when a load was to be started, it became his invariable custom to give his mate a nudge with his shoulder, by way of spurring him up to his work. The cunning animal thus escaped his fair share of the labor, the more willing horse always responding to this gentle reminder. How very human, to be sure. We have all seen individuals who were ready to take advantage of the good nature of their acquaintances, and shift their burdens upon other shoulders.

The First National Gold Bank of San Francisco declared their regular monthly dividend of 1 per cent. on last Saturday.

The latest Liverpool wheat quotations reaching us here of the 4th inst., and the figures given are 11s 4d for average California, and 11s 1d@11s 2d for club, per cental.

It would appear from our advices from San Francisco that the panic in monetary affairs there is all over, and that a good hope is entertained that before many days more shall pass money will be in fair supply and business of all kinds resume its accustomed channels and wonted activity. The friends of the old Bank of California are determined to preserve its name from dishonor, at least, and they are rallying in force to extricate it from its present dilemma. The plan to turn the affairs over to well known capitalists, who are large owners of the stock, to close up the business in the interest of the creditors and stockholders needs with hearty approval. This is unquestionably the best thing that can be done for the interest of all concerned. A summary winding up of the bank would be far less satisfactory. All the large stockholders have acquiesced in the proposed arrangement, and nearly a majority of the stock is committed to the plan. So soon as a majority is pledged, the management will be authorized to go ahead, and those not coming in will be treated the same as if they had bonded this stock. The subscription to the syndicate at 3 P. M. last Friday had reached $6,000,000, exclusive of the amount expected from E. J. Baldwin, whose friends put him down for $1,000,000. Mr. Baldwin was expected to arrive in a day or two. It is confidently believed that the subscriptions will be increased to $10,000,000. This amount is simply pledged. It is not known how much will be called in to commence business, but the amount will be small. Upon the settlement of the affairs of the bank, it will then be determined what future course to pursue. It is probable that the bank will be reorganized under the old name.

In our local market the effect of the San Francisco crash, is not now felt as far as general trade matters are concerned, though some departments of business requiring the employment of large amounts of capital are somewhat retarded by the scarcity of readily available funds. The surplus expected from abroad not being yet within reach the banks are guarding their depositors carefully by making the fewest possible loans, even to their regular customers, until every vestige of feeling excited by the California catastrophe is entirely allayed. This precautionary policy is hardly deemed necessary under the favorable aspect of affairs, but while it tends to place a limit to transactions, it is commendable in that it at least insures safety to all concerned.

Duty on Sugar.

Our San Francisco exchanges contain reports of the trial of a very important suit in the United States circuit court in that city last week. The facts, as briefly stated, are these: In March, 1871, Falkner, Bell & Co., commenced the importation of concentrated Melado from Formosa and Cebu Philippine Islands, and entered it at the custom house as concentrated Melado, the duty upon which is 1¼c. per pound. The collector, however, imposed upon it the Dutch standard sugar duty of 1 13-22 cents per pound. In this manner eleven cargoes were landed at different times, all of which were subjected to the same process of contending valuations. The importers, through their legal adviser, duly protested, and appealed to the secretary of the treasury from the collector's decision. The secretary sustained the collector, and Falkner, Bell & Co. then brought suit to recover the difference in duties, amounting to $62,115, together with the accrued interest of nearly $5,000. The contest was vigorously carried on by both parties, the government's counsellor having obtained depositions bearing on the matter in every important commercial city in the Union; while plaintiff's attorneys procured the evidence of experts from India, the Sandwich Islands, Central America and other Pacific sugar-producing countries. As the eleven cases were exactly similar, it was agreed that the decision in one should be equally applicable to the rest. A large number of prominent merchants were placed upon the stand, and the trial lasted four days. In charging the jury, his Honor, Judge Sawyer, remarked that it was merely a question of fact, and that it was the jury's province to decide whether the imported articles was concentrated Melado, subject to a duty of 1¼ cents the pound, or sugar liable to a duty of 1 13-22c the pound. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $62,115, with accrued interest of nearly $5,000 more. There will probably be no appeal in this case, as its whole merit lies in the simple question of fact as charged by the court, being entirely untettered with technicalities or law points to which exception might be taken.

Miscellaneous.

The timely arrival of the barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, with a cargo mainly of island sugars, will supply a want which has been felt in this market for a few weeks past.

Concerning the copper trade of the United States, an English copper merchant says his country may hereafter expect to receive regular supplies of our product, while they are unlikely to do any further shipping to this country. America is rapidly increasing this production.

The supply of bags and bagging both in San Francisco and Portland seems to be rather in excess of the necessities of the trade, and prices are entirely nominal.

During the week ending September 2d, shipments of salmon from San Francisco embraced 32,466 cases, 10 tierces and 272 barrels; mostly to London.

The San Francisco Commercial Herald, under date of September 2d, says: "The receipts of wheat and flour from the interior are upon a large scale, and to date exceed in magnitude those at a corresponding period of last year. Barley and oats are also in large volume. The wool receipts, as well as potatoes, are in much larger volume than at same date last year. Owing to a complication of causes, growing out and incidental to the financial panic, very little new business has been done in breadstuffs for ten days past; in fact, trade in general languishes, nor do we expect any considerable revival in business circles for at least a fortnight to come. Wool buyers are evidently prepared to make free purchases whenever the fall clip makes its appearance."

The Oswego iron works have shipped 500 tons of pig iron to San Francisco this season.

The condition of the money markets of Europe is fairly indicated by the action of the directors of the Bank of England in reducing the rate of discount on the 12th ultimo to 2 per cent. It will be remembered that two weeks previously it was lowered to 2½ per cent. There was no other recourse for the directors. This is the lowest figure ever adopted for discount business at the bank.

We have Sydney dates to July 31st. The unfavorable crop advices from Europe had caused an advance of 6@9d in wheat and 10s in flour, with some engagements of both for England. At the close, local brands of flour were quoted at £11 to £11 10s and Adelaide brands £1 higher. There had been sales of Oregon salmon at 8c 9 dozen 1-lb tins.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship John L. Stephens, hence for San Francisco, will sail at 5 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The bkn Jane A. Falkinburg, 29 days from Honolulu arrived at her berth this morning, and began to discharge cargo.

The bk Mattie Macleay sailed from Honolulu August 25th, with a full cargo of island products, and will be due here in a few days. She comes consigned to Corbitt & Macleay.

The Br. ship City of Cashmere is reported as having arrived at Astoria.

The ships Florida and McNear are about due at this port from San Francisco. The ship Iowa Well is also due at Astoria. They come to load wheat.

The bk Rival is due from San Francisco with an assorted cargo of merchandise.

The Sea Waif is discharging railroad iron at Flanders' wharf. She will begin to load wheat for San Francisco in a day or two.

The ship Berar has her ballast near all out and will be ready for her entire cargo of wheat in a few days.

The evening paper of yesterday says "the bark Forward is at Willamette steam mills loading lumber." The Forward went to sea last week.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Receipts continue to be quite heavy, but are nearly all of prior purchases. Shippers report that no one is anxious to make sales or to buy at the quotations, which are given as nominal at $1 80 ₱ cental.

FLOUR—Stocks are slightly increasing, but prices are unchanged, the former quotations of $8 ₱ bbl for standard extras, and other brands in proportion, still ruling.

OATS—There are but few lots reaching the market at present, and prices have stiffened up a little under a fair demand for the local trade. We quote at 55@57c ₱ bushel.

BACON—Our former quotations of 12½c@13c lb for sides, 15c@16c for hams, and 8c@9c for shoulders, are well sustained, and there is a tolerably ready sale for all of first-rate quality which offers.

FRESH FRUIT—The market is filled with ripe fruits of all seasonable kinds and prices are moderate, but quotations depend altogether on quality and condition and the wants of buyers. The supply of peaches during the week has been large.

LARD—The supply is not excessive and quotations are firm at 15c@16c per lb in kegs or tins.

BUTTER—In demand. The future being from 25@30c. In kegs we quote extra at 22½@25c ₱ lb for jobbing lots.

EGGS—The market is dull, with the price down to 25c ₱ doz.

CHICKENS—Good chickens are in demand at $4 50@4 75 ₱ doz for full grown, and for spring from $2@3 50, according to size and quality.

BEEF CATTLE—The market is well supplied, and prices rule low. The quotations are 1½@1¾c on foot and double those rates dest.

MUTTON SHEEP—A light demand rules at from $2@2 75 ₱ head.

HIDES AND FURS—There is quite an active trade for the season, and we quote best selected hides at 8c@9c; culls, 6@7c; green, 6c; calf, 15@20c; deer, 10@15c; kips, 12@15c; dried, 5@6c; each; grown, 10@15c; spring, $1 50 each; otter, $2@3 each; beaver, 75@$1.

WOOL—Each outgoing steamer takes a supply to San Francisco. Receipts are not heavy and a light to offering finds a ready market. The quotations range from 14@21c for Eastern Oregon and 20@25 for Valley.

IMPORTS.

Per barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, consigned to Messrs. Allen & Lewis, from Honolulu: 1,240 bags sugar, 275 bags rice, 50 barrels coffee, 228 mats sugar, 109 bags bananas.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Flatulency, Eruptions, Pain, Dysentery and Diarrhœa, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Intermittents, Neuralgia, a Painful Affection of the Heart, and Impurities of the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF

Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

Has been widely used during the last twenty-five years. In the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. The shakes, or chills, once broken up, do not return, until the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers' Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system, and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, and arms the patient against its return. Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed, where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear. Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack. Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities can not be troubled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm, has no speedier remedy.

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy.

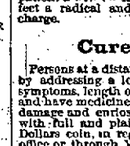
To the Unfortunate!

NEW REMEDIES. NEW METHODS.

DR. GIBBON'S



DISPENSARY,

No. 6... Kearny st., Corner of ... street,

SAN FRANCISCO.

Established in 1854, for the treatment and cure of Seminal Diseases, Sexual Debility, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Impotency, etc., etc., resulting from Self-Abuse (Onanism) and Rheumatism and Kindred Affections.

DR. GIBBON has the honor to inform the afflicted that he has returned from the principal cities of Europe, and has established himself permanently, for the remainder of his life, at No. 6... Kearny st., San Francisco, where all those requiring his services may rely upon finding him.

The Doctor has spent many years in Europe, seeking out new remedies, and perfecting himself in the most approved and successful methods of treating those diseases which require the skill of the educated physician, and has introduced many new and important improvements in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, which are entirely unknown to the profession in this country, and which are offered to the afflicted for the first time by DR. GIBBON.

Dr. Gibbon's New Remedies and New Methods are entirely unknown to the profession in this country, and are offered to the afflicted for the first time by DR. GIBBON.
